Today I am sending warm wishes to have a special thanksgiving. I know this may be a thanksgiving you may not want to remember but I hope the message brightens your day. My dad also has cancer and every day I am so thankful he is able to be here with us and I am so thankful you are here and fighting too! One verse that gives me that helps me is 1 Thessalonians 5:18, "give thanks in all circumstances; for this is God's will for you in Christ Jesus." I know from my dad fighting cancer that it can be hard to remember your blessings but I for me to send you this note is I am very thankful to be able to do and I hope it reminds you that your community and family are supporting your fight! God bless.	Erika
You are not just another case. You matter	toni

Hello!! I didn't want to send you an automated message for this holiday season because I want it to be personal. So, to whomever receives this, hello! My name is Hannah and I'm writing to you to wish YOU a happy holiday season and well wishes. Things are tough right now, in more ways than I could ever imagine. And things aren't easier with COVID. However, your strength is admirable and we see you. We hear you. We love you. Every day when you are visited by a healthcare worker, understand how much they love their patients which means they love you, and wish you a happy holiday season. We're in this together.	Hannah
I hope you have a great Thanksgiving and I hope you get to feeling better. Always remember that God loves you!	Bryson

Happy Thanksgiving! Hi there, I am writing you to hopefully provide some sense of community and support! That's right! Support from a stranger, but far from distant. I am right here in the UKHC community, and I am backing YOU 1000% of the way. I may not know you and you may not know me, but I am always thinking of you. I hope that makes sense! I am happy you're being cared for by such an amazing team at UKHC Markey cancer! You see I'm in the pool, which means I work everywhere at UK, and the floor you're on is one of the best. It is filled with WONDERFUL people like yourself and the many nurses and doctors and techs caring for you. I am so amazed by your strength and in awe of your courage. I know this year has been rough for so many reasons, and I truly don't understand the trials you've had to overcome. I try my best, but it's no where near the same. It's not enough to take the hardships of this year away, but I truly wish I could. I continue to think of you and send you my well wishes. All my love is given to you this holiday season especially as things are different. With the ongoing events it's so hard to have the comfort and support you need, but I hope you know the ENTIRE UKHC team is backing you without a doubt. I hope you continue to brighten the lives of those around you with your amazing spirit and positivity. You shine even on the darkest days!!
Xoxoxo	Amy

Hi! I just wanted to tell you that, I have been through really dark seasons in my life, where I watched God rescue me and do miracles in my life. Although I don't know what having cancer feels like; I can tell you that Jesus Christ (God) has healed even worse sicknesses and he can heal you too! Have faith! I do! Let's pray! Read this prayer with faith and you will see. Dear Heavenly Father, you who is greater than any other being; I surrender my life before you and I ask in Jesus name, that you heal me from my sickness. I know that you're healer and that this is no match for you! Thank you I'm advance for healing me. In Jesus's name I pray, amen! The word of God says "Ask and ye shall receive." So, ask God and you will receive. God bless you and once you're healed, pass this prayer along in faith! God bless you!!!!	Lianet

Praying that next Thanksgiving can be spent with family and friends!	Lynne
I've been there so I know that sickness, uncertainty, and sometimes fear. But , throw the latter two away and replace it with, "Gods got it fixed and its gonna be fine in time." It worked for me. I was stage 4 neck cancer, bilateral neck dissection, 48 nodes removed, both tonsils. Followed up with horrible chemo, 33 radiations, no taste, 50 pounds lost, very sick for the first month of treatment. After that, I had it licked. Cancer free since 2010. You got this!! Talk to Jesus every day, try hard to eat protein, drink milk, water. I could taste NOTHING except milk, pinto beans, onions, broccoli and eggs. God had me covered. Literally everything else was like cardboard. I escaped the feeding tube that many had to have. God bless you. Stay strong. Stay active but rest plenty. Spring time will come again.	Betty
Never ever give up!	Megan
I am thinking about you and sending you love and strength today and always!	April
I am a breast cancer survivor. Keep your eyes and  on the Lord, don't give up, keep a good attitude and use your situation for the glory of the Lord. He will help you through this. You will get back to a new normal. God will use your life to help others going through cancer treatment. I pray for cancer patients every day. If I can help you, let me know. Prayers and don't give up, you can do this!	Sarah
Philippians 4:7 "And the peace of God, which transcends all understanding, will guard your hearts and your minds in Christ Jesus." Happy Thanksgiving!	Dyella
Wishing you a wonderful thanksgiving and happy holiday season!	Ashley

Keep fighting and continue to keep up your strength. Know that God is with you!!!	Austin
I just want to wish you a very Happy Thanksgiving and hope that you have a wonderful day! I pray for God's complete healing for you. I know that we serve an Almighty God that is still on the throne, in total control, and HE's still in the healing business. When your days get hard and long, happy and sad just remember HE's always there for you, all you have to do is call out his name and he will hear your cries. I pray and asked that if you don't know Jesus as your personal Savior that you ask him to come into your life and save you. My family has been where you are and there's no greater thing in this world than to have God on your side through this journey and times of pain and struggle. If you need to pray, please reach out!	Lora
I understand what your going through with endometrial cancer stage 4 in Feb. After chemo spot on lungs determined not cancer went back to stage 3 had total hysterectomy and radiation, now I am cancer free. Keep fighting I know it is so scary and hard but if you keep your faith in God he will not fail you. Sending you lots of Love and prayers.	Tami
Strength is not always obvious. But it shows up when you need it. You have it.	Betty
Wishing you strength and courage every day.	Kathleen
Hello, I am praying this is a better day for you. I know it must be very difficult to not have family with you at this time. This virus has made things so hard to cope with in so many ways. Please know you are being thought if, cared for and loved very very much. May this day of Thanksgiving makes us all better caring and loving people. Much love, prayers and big hugs are sent your way. Always	Susan
Praying for healing and comfort May God wrap his loving arms around you and take this sickness away	Minda
I am a resident physician currently working in the hospital. My patients constantly remind me why I chose this profession. I often think about whether or not I would battle these horrible diseases as gracefully and honorably as some of my patients do.
For Thanksgiving this year I'm going to give thanks that I have the honor and privilege to help those going through some of their toughest times. In addition I will always be fiercely grateful for the patients who have allowed me to gain an education and who have therefore participated in the care of all of my future patients.
Whoever gets this message, I hope you smile when you do. You are so much more than your disease and I hope you can leave the hospital soon feeling better than when you first arrived.
Happy Thanksgiving!	Erin

You are so strong and brave. I know how hard your battle is and how hard the days are right now for you, but I promise it is all worth it! Never give up! And keep on fighting! God bless you!	Erin

Praying for god to put his healing hands on you...	Kathy
Blessings to you warrior! I wish you peace and wellness. There is life in the other side! I was in your place three years ago. One day at a time.	Lisa
Everyone of you are so strong and so tough. I have never had cancer but at the age 10/11 I watched my mother battle cancer and watching her struggle and staying sick all the time hurt me so much. You all are super brave and you have so much courage! I may not know you all but I love each and every one of you so much and I want you to know you've got what it takes to keep going!	Mary
I'm sending prayers you will get well very soon	Penny
May you be strengthened with all power, according to his glorious might, for all endurance and patience with joy.—Colossians 1:11	Jennifer
Sending you prayers and hope this thanksgiving! Wishing you faith in God that never fails and hope for the future. God sees you and loves you, he will fight for you, protect you, and strengthen you if you only put your full trust in him then all will be well with your soul, the fight has already been won for you on the cross.	Ashton
You are stronger than you know! Tough times never last but tough people do! God Bless You and Happy Thanksgiving!	Jennie
I hope you have a great Thanksgiving. I pray God will heal you and rid you from cancer. I pray you get stronger and feel much better. My heart goes out to you. I don't know you but i love you. ☐ Keep fighting.	Teresa
Take a turkey, stuff it fat, Some of this and some of that. Get some turnips, peel them well. Cook a big squash in its shell. Now potatoes, big and white, Mash till they are soft and white!!!!	Bekah
I want you to know that good can come from cancer if you wish to see it. It's a time to connect with family, see the best in others, appreciate the creation all around you, set your priorities and live your life on your terms. Take care of yourself and let others help you. Cancer is not who you are, but if you choose, it can change you to your strongest self.	Kim
Wishing you a blessed and happy day! I pray that each day you get stronger and God blesses you.	Jessica
You got this!!! Stay strong and continue to be brave!! My Mother beat stage 3 lung cancer a few years!!! Just when she felt she couldn't anymore things started look up for her! So never give up!! Your in my prayers and thoughts!!!	Michalla
Wishing you a very Happy Thanksgiving and aa wonderful and precious recovery. You will continue to be in my prayers and wishing and praying they find a cure.	Mary
God will give you strength to keep up the good fight!!	Lanetta
I'm a breast cancer survivor for 15 wonderful years! God gives us strength every day! I just looked at cancer as another hurdle to jump.. I never doubted that God would get me through! I kept a daily journal. It helped. I read it and do not remember the chemo being so tough! I'm thankful for every bonus day...I gained 6 grandchildren and blessed to be in their daily lives!! May God bless you in your journey to getting better!	Vikki
I wanted to say hello to you and to let you know that i am praying for you.May your Thanksgiving bring you so much peace,happiness and love.May God bless you and your family.Stay strong Sending much love to you and your family.	Theresa

Hello! I'm Adam and I'm from Southern Ohio. I may never meet who this message goes to, but please know that I'm thinking and praying for you this Thanksgiving. My life has been forever touched by a cancer patient (my Mama) and I'm currently in nursing school at Kentucky Christian University to join the fight against this disease. Remember...God loves you and Jesus loves you more than you could EVER know. In fact, He died for you. May remembering this help to see you through your battles. Much love. Your friend, Adam.	Adam
Keep fighting! Many people love you and are praying for your health, strength and perseverance!	Amanda
Best wishes, always.	Kathleen
