To all cancer patients, letting you know you are in good hands. Four years ago I was diagnosed with AML Leukemia. On top of that they found Mukor in my lung. They removed it promptly along with 3 ribs. I was in and out of the hospital at 30 days stints. I thank the doctors and our Heavenly Father for His grace and miracles. Today I am in Remission and they didn't give me much time at all. I have surpassed their time by 2 years. Sending love and prayers to all cancer patients. Keep good thoughts and be strong. Keep your head up and keep the hope alive! It's going to be a battle and some days it may feel like the fight's over, but never give up. Prayers and love are being sent to you!

Christie Today I'm thankful for my life & for your life. Thank you for being strong & never giving up! Thank you for showing us all how to have faith in your darkest hour & how to trust in the Lord! I know God has a great plan for you & your family, Keep smiling because I feel that laughter heals the pain. Keep trying because you are my hero. My daughter has JRA & she's Ana positive meaning she will always have it, JRI in her eyes, an over active thyroid that she had to have radiation for and is doing good! Hemochromatosis that she had to have a medical blood donation for and more! She has ran the Jingle bell run for arthritis! She is a full time student with a full scholarship, she has a part time job. Even when life is hard you can make your dreams come true maybe in a different way than you planned and that's ok. My kid who's 19 now & all of us in this nation & others look up to you for being so strong & helping us to be thankful for our gift of life. I am praying for u your friends & family. Happy Thanksgiving to my hero & thank you for your love walk! This sickness u have been giving does not define you. You are so much more! You are a soldier chosen by God to show us how to fight a good fight! You set the example for others facing this! Your strength, love, love & faith will live forever! Because you a hero! You are chosen By God! He trust you to guide others! The Lord sees you & trust u to be able to do this! You got this! Keep your head up! You are already motivator! You give your all! We are so thankful for You!!!! Happy Thanksgiving

Annette Thinking of you! Hugs and good thoughts are coming to you!

2016 My Father was in the same facility as you are today. Medical science has come a long way. Stay positive throughout your journey. Dad did and so can you. We would walk the halls laps on end. I'd love to go back in time and do it all again. But I unexpectedly lost my father due to a massive heart attack here at home. I was with him when it happened. I may not ever get the opportunity to see you in person but always remember GOD is AWESOME love you with all my heart. Take care. YOU GOT THIS. Happy Halloween

Melissa Keep fighting your way back to health. You can beat this! Wishing you peace this season.

Lee Anna I don't understand why this happens. I have no answers-other than what I learned. My son had leukemia and we spent 3 1/2 years at st. judes. I saw so many miracles and true love that I never lost hope. And I learned that each person with cancer Has an extra spirit that others don't-that will see them through. You don't know me. But I'm praying for you with all my heart and please don't give up. You are needed to be here. much love and unceasing prayers.
